DR. JOHN RIEGEL DELIVERS ELOQUENT ADDRESS ON THE DANGERS OF SIN

Speaks to Students at Chapel Service
Wednesday Morning

IS AN URSINUS ALUMNUS

Dr. John O. Riegel delivered the monthly address to the students of Ursinus College last Wednesday morning at chapel exercises. Dr. Riegel used as the theme for his inspiring address a few facts about sin. He opened his address by saying that, "All men have sin. We have had it with us since the beginning of the world, when our first parents sinned in the garden of Eden, and it still exists in our hearts." No one can find a man who can say he has kept the law of God. The better the man the more conscious he is of his sin.

The second point Dr. Riegel brought out in his address was that everybody has it everywhere. Sin touches everywhere, destroys the hearts and hardens the emotions.

He said: "All our choices, and all our decisions are ruined by sin. Sinful thoughts creep into our physical being and influence our actions. We cannot have sinful thoughts and expect our actions to be noble and good."

Sin is a very objectionable and awful thing. Its dreadful powers can only be seen in the true light, when we see and think of Christ. We should read and observe it in the light of Christ to get the proper vision to fight against sin. Loss of body is not comparable to the great toll that sin takes in our modern complex world."

Sin hits the old and young alike, the prominent and the lowly, the preacher and the laborer, even the school lad three weeks before graduation. It causes mothers to trample on the love for their daughters and sent Christ to the crucifixion. "Sin would take God from the throne and put on the King of Darkness."

Dr. Riegel eloquently concluded his (Continued on page 4)

ENGLISH CLUB MEETS AT SHREINER HALL

The regular meeting of the English Club began promptly at 8 o'clock last Monday evening at Shreiner Hall with almost perfect attendance. This week the subject was foreign novels of the twentieth century which have been translated into English. In keeping with this program were read two well written biographies and resumes of Anatole France and Blasco Ibanez, prepared by Ruth Kistler and Edna Martin, respectively. Following this the club members were favored by Dr. Smith's customary interesting talk, concerning books in the English translation. He began with Tyndale's translation of the Bible and extended down to Papin's "Life of Christ" in our own day. After a discussion in which all of the members participated the meeting adjourned. It was decided that the Club would next get together on April 16th when the contemporary English novelists Bennett, Wells, and Galsworthy will be the topics for discussion.

ZWING TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY FRIDAY

The Zwinglian Literary Society will present her annual anniversary program on Friday evening, March 27. Again the program will be one of dramatics but departing from the usual custom, two short plays will be presented.

"The Gazing Globe," a one-act play, will be the opening performance of the evening. Two new members of Zwing take the major roles, Lois Nickel and Paul Krasley. The other character is portrayed by Ruth Eppeheimer.

Following this production one of Anatole France's two-act satires will be given: "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife." It is a social satire thoroughly up-to-date, dealing as it does with subjects which are "of all time."

Ruth Nickel and MacDonell Roehm, two of Zwing's experienced dramatic artists, take the leading roles. The cast of character follows:

Master Leonard Botal

McDonnell Roehm

Master Adam Fumee . . . David Kern
Master Simon Colline Edward Ullrich
Master Jean Maugier

PHIDELAH RICE TO GIVE READING TUESDAY NIGHT

The next number on the community lecture course is scheduled for March 24th when Phidelah Rice will give a reading in Bomberger hall at 8 p. m. Mr. Rice has established a great reputation for himself as a reader and impersonator. He comes here under the auspices of the Redpath Lyceum Bureau.

Mr. Rice is still remembered at Ursinus for his clever performance two years ago. On his first appearance here he demonstrated that he was a keen master of impersonation by portraying eight different characters in a virile fashion. By a thorough knowledge of the technique of his profession and the purpose and message of his readings, the master impersonator brings out with careful judgment the various artistic values. Mr. Leonard Powers says, "Knowing the man as I do, with his cultivated mind, clean heart, clear head and winning personality, I do not wonder at his astonishing success."

STUDENT COUNCIL DANCE TO BE HELD SATURDAY NIGHT

The Student Council dance scheduled for Saturday night following Zwing play promises to be one of the biggest and peppiest affairs of the season. An active committee, consisting of Messrs. Stevenson, Lackman, Oppenheimer, and Paine, headed by Johnnie Bisbing, is making extensive plans concerning music, decorations and refreshments.

Music for the dancing will be rendered by the Arcadians of Norristown who can be depended upon to furnish the best syncopation ever. It is rumored that there is a big surprise for everyone during intermission. Many alumni and friends are expected. Don't miss this opportunity to enjoy an evening with the "old gang" again.

The Men's Glee Club under the direction of Miss Hartenstine will give a concert on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, in the Trinity Reformed Church at Norristown.

There are some more copies of the 1925 Ruby for sale. Students, Alumni and Friends who desire copies can procure them from Ralph E. Heiges, Editor-in-Chief, or Howard T. Herber, Assistant Business Manager. The price is only $3.50.

Varsity Club Stages Entertainment in Cage

Boxing and Wrestling Bouts Are Included in Men's Athletic Meeting

The Varsity Club, reorganized recently, swung into more action Monday evening when they blended farce and fists into an entertainment for the men. Boxing and wrestling was the menu they served in the Thompson Cage.

David Kern, president by virtue of his captaincy of the basketball team, opened the evening with a talk on the club, its past history and future plans. He promised other entertainments during the year.

Malone and Peterson grappled to two falls in the curtain raiser. The former had the edge on the weight but the Swede had a bag of tricks with him and took both falls. Dr. Allen, guest of honor, amused in a short talk.

Three acts of the side-splitting variety of boxing followed, featuring the Weiss-Fritch troupe. The two lads exchanged blows commendably considering their handicap—being blindfolded.

Furlong "came back" in his wrestling affair with Thompson after the later took the first fall, won the remaining two and the fight. Referee Novario's decision on the final fall in this encounter met with some disapproval in the galleries.

Malone met his Waterloo for the second time in the final number, a fist affair with Fink. This bout went three rounds. Fink had things pretty much his own way throughout.

Y. M.-Y. W. C. A. ANNOUNCES BETTY BOOTH CONCERT

A very delightful and pelasing entertainment is expected from the Betty Booth Concert Company to be held in Bomberger Hall at 8 p. m. as given on Wednesday evening, April 1. This will be their first appearance at the College and it will be a rare treat that no one should miss.

Miss Betty Booth, mezzo-soprano and pianist, who is the organizer and director of the company, studied in European music centers and appeared for two years with the Imperial Vienna Opera Company.

Hugo Brandt, Polish pianist and composer of note, who received his training under the best European masters, is a valued member of the company.

Paul Clark, violinist with the company, has studied under the best masters of the day and ranks high as a concert entertainer.

BIOLOGY JOURNAL CLUB MEETS

The Biology Journal Club spent a very profitable hour in the "Y" room last Monday evening. A paper on Influenza was read by Elwood Peters. John Gilbert Malone presented a paper on the Functions of the Haemoglobin. Interesting discussions followed the presentation of each paper.

Dorothy M. Threapleton, of Philadelphia, was honored recently when she was elected to head the W. S. G. A. for the coming year. The other officers elected were: Vice president, Bernice Leo '27; secretary, Ruth Von Steuben '28; treasurer, Edna Harter '26.

ALUMNI ORGANIZE CLUB AT BANQUET IN N. Y. CITY

The largest gathering (because it was the first) of Alumni and former students to hold a meeting thus far in New York City, assembled in the International House, Tuesday evening, March 17.

After dinner speeches were made by the toastmaster, Melvin C. Jacobs, '12, of the New York University faculty; Miss Elizabeth C. Clapham, '21; W. Harry Snyder, '23, graduate student at New York University; Elmer K. Kilmer, '15; John Beltz, graduate student at Columbia University; D. F. Singley, '15, graduate student at Union Theological Seminary; Webster Stover, '24; Rev. G. A. Schnatz, and Rev. Lary Small, '14, pastor of First Presbyterian Church of the city.

At the business meeting the following officers were elected to perpetuate a New York City Alumni Club: President, Melvin C. Jacobs, Ramsey, N. J.; vice president, Rev. Lary Small, 3051 E. Tremont Ave., New York City; secretary and treasurer, Webster Stover, 600 W. 122nd St., New York City.

To D. F. Singley, '15, is due the credit of calling and arranging for the meeting. The next meeting will be held sometime this coming fall—in the words of the father of this movement—"With no axe to grind, but merely fellowship to find." The sole purpose of the Club is to perpetuate these "get-together" meetings and to keep banded together for whatever practical measures that may come up in the future for the better interest of Ursinus and Ursinuites.

FACULTY ANNOUNCES THE 1925 HONOR STUDENTS

Mr. Fred Vincent Roeder has been selected as Valedictorian of the class of 1925. Mr. Roeder comes from East Greenville and is a graduate of East Greenville High School. During his four years in college he has become distinguished for his work in mathematics.

Miss Vivian Wismer has been chosen as Salutatorian of the Senior class. She resides in Collegeville and four years ago was graduated with honors from Collegeville High School. Miss Wismer will be remembered by Ursinus students for her all around ability both in the class room and in outside activities.

ATH. ASSOCIATION SUBMITS AMENDMENTS FOR CONST.

At a meeting of the Athletic Association held on Friday two amendments to the Constitution were submitted by the chairman of the amendment committee, Roehm. It was agreed by the association that these amendments be voted upon at the next meeting. Molitor was elected to one of the junior managerships of baseball due to a vacancy in the staff along with Ullrich who is already a Junior manager. Hoagland and Boice were elected Sophomore managers. The following are the two amendments to the constitution as submitted:

Constitution, Article IX. Amend to read: Certificates shall be awarded to all members of Varsity teams that have been awarded their letters.

Sweaters or gold footballs shall be awarded to all Seniors at the beginning of the Senior year who have earned their letter any time during their enrollment in the College. Gold footballs may be awarded to teams having championship seasons by a two-thirds vote of the Athletic Council.

FORENSIC TEAMS BREAK EVEN WITH BUCKNELL AND ALBRIGHT DEBATERS

Negative Team Defeats Bucknell;
Albright Wins from Affirmative

SUCCESSFUL SEASON CLOSES

Bucknell at Home

The debate in Bomberger on Friday night was indeed a fitting close to a successful season for the negative team. This was evidenced not only in the 2 to 1 decision of the judges, but in the whole manner in which they presented and proved their points.

The Supreme Court question was the one debated and the Bucknell team upheld the affirmative side. They argued that the present powers of the Supreme Court were usurped and that the whole policy of nullification by the Court was incompatible with a representative form of government. With a distinct oratorical appeal they declared that the Court's power was absolute and therefore injurious to the welfare of the people.

Altho the negative speakers had less of the oratorical touch, the conciseness of their evidence and reasoning made their plan very convincing. They defended the present Court workings on the grounds that there was not a need for a change, that most of the criticisms of the Court were unjust and that the evils of the proposed plan would be greater than those incurred under the present circumstances.

The Bucknell debaters were Messrs. Alexander Wilson, Wallace Kearney, Francis Lybarger and William Lybarger, alternate. Ursinus was represented by Messrs. C. Grove Haines, George Haines, Walter Powell and Elmer Herber, alternate.

Dr. Omwake was the presiding officer and the judges were as follows: Messrs. George Kressley, of Allentown High School; Paul Hartman, Perkiomen School, and James Shook, Junior High School, Reading.

After the debate the judges, the faculty and the debaters were informally entertained by the Women's Debating Club.

Affirmative Loses to Albright

The Affirmative Debating team motored to Myerstown on Friday afternoon and there met the Albright Negative team. Dr. Bowman, president of the College, presided. The Ursinus debaters, Heiges, H. Herber, Griffin and Alternate Harman used the same line-up of arguments as they had used successfully against Juniata, Temple and Muhlenberg but the judges gave the decision in favor (Continued on page 4)

SPELL BINDING

Spellbinding or speaking before High Schools on the part of college students has been omitted for the last few years. Some of the students here now remember how four or five years ago some college student from Ursinus appeared at their chapel exercise and told them of the advantages of Ursinus. The statement that the spellbinders did a good service for the College needs no more substantiation than the testimony of her students who were brought under the "spell." If some good has been brought to the College and if the men themselves have received valuable experience it might be a good idea to revive the spellbinders.                      H. T. H., '25

COLLEGE SONGS

One of the best ways to obtain and keep a good and loyal spirit is by singing College songs. Few things will create such a keen feeling of loyalty as the harmony which comes from musical strains of various kinds. Prosperity is stamped on propositions everywhere when a body of individuals can secure co-operation with one definite aim in mind and with a pleasant spirit to urge them on in their work.

It has been observed repeatedly that on the campus and at the various gatherings at Ursinus a fine spirit of joviality is permeated whenever the students engage in college songs. A spirit of responsibility seems to be diffused throughout the entire atmosphere in this way. Consequently, students are spurred on to greater activity and better results can be obtained. Within recent years, under capable leadership, the musical organizations of the institution have become worthy of note and this has shown itself in establishing a friendly Ursinus spirit.

There are various ways by which college songs can bring a deeper sense of loyalty to the entire campus. One of these is by singing when a large part of the student body is gathered together as one family. This can not be better carried out than in the dining room. Why not set aside a definite time at stated intervals after the evening meal for the singing of college songs? At this time all the students could participate in the festivities and consequently, they would all benefit by it. This very idea of singing in the dining room at specified intervals was in existence several years ago and brought highly satisfactory results. However, for some reason or other, the idea was discontinued in time. But why not begin anew and set aside a short time every week or fortnight for singing in the College dining room? Why not have a jovial time such as is enjoyed by every one in the dining room on Founders' Day and on other special occasions? There is bound to be a more loyal spirit if students can be aroused by some co-operative movement such as this. The happy feeling which is so prevalent after special occasions can be renewed and kept. If this can be brought about, prosperity is sure to flourish on every hand.                      A. C. H., '26

THE MELTING POT

Ursinus a Melting Pot! Let us consider for a few brief moments just what this term means. A melting pot is generally used for recasting and remoulding. In a similar manner our college can be likened to a huge melting pot into which we are thrown to be melted into young manhood and young womanhood. If one were to take a look into this huge moulder and four years later should take another look the results would undoubtedly be startling. There would certainly be many surprises and changes. Those whom one would judge to be a great success would still be floundering around in the self same way in which they started four years ago. They took college life indifferently, they didn't care, and consequently no one else cared. The world will not help any one who will not help himself. On the other hand, however, those whom we would least expect to make good have scrambled to the top and have made their mark. A common example may be taken of a fellow who comes to Ursinus direct from the farm, probably he has never been away from home and consequently does not know how to act. Everything is new to him and he is condemned by his classmates as a "dumb farmer." Four years later we see him again. What is the result? The result is just opposite and the "dumb farmer" is the one who has succeeded. The one who came to school under a disadvantage now leads his fellows and is at the top of the ladder.

There are many who attend college under a great handicap and make good. They can be compared to a diamond which when first mined appears ugly, dull, and useless, but after going through the developing process comes out a finished product, glittering and sparkling. The person who succeeds is the one who makes every minute of his time count for something. Set your standard high and follow it. Set your ideal and abide by it. Adapt yourself to the real traditions, spirit and life at Ursinus and the result will be inevitable.                      S. A. R., '27

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. PAUL

One of the most interesting meetings of the year was held by the Brotherhood of St. Paul last Wednesday evening in Schaff Hall. The papers presented were well planned and well read, and discussion flowed freely.

The first paper, "Some Campus Problems," by Mr. Welker, attempted an analysis of some of the more important problems of the campus but wisely suggested no solution. Such things as chapel, grace before meals, the students' relation with the church and Sunday School here, the Christian organizations and "social hour" helped to constitute the perplexities.

The paper entitled "Mohammedanism" by Mr. C. Grove Haines gave a concise, well planned history of Mohammedanism and presented its leading doctrines. Its similarity to Christianity was noted but its weaknesses were also exposed. The paper was constructive throughout and presented a very clear idea of the Mohammedan religion.

Mr. Slifer, as critic, reemphasized the main points of the papers, and helpfully criticised their material and presentation.

Mr. Sawhill, professor of Greek and Spanish, was next presented, and gave the Brotherhood members a pleasing talk, congratulating them on their spirit and their interest in religious affairs.

The discussion which followed was lively, and many problems which both papers advanced came in for their share of consideration. The spirit manifested at this meeting bespeaks a growing religious interest on the part of Ursinus students.

THE Y. M. RALLY IS GETTING RESULTS

If there are any beliefs that religious interest at Ursinus has declined, or that the Y. M. rally would not be successful, they were dispelled by the very large attendance at the Y. M. Meeting last Wednesday evening. The success of the Y rally was shown by the presence there of almost sixty students who filled the Y rooms to overflowing. This attendance was nearly twice that of the number at the Y rally of the previous meeting.

The first part of the meeting, led by "Max" Paine was given over to singing. At the conclusion of this the chairman introduced Lloyd Wood. The topic which he had chosen was, "The Value of Discipline". In the talk which followed "Woodie" showed that discipline, in its broader sense, is the basis of all success. He pointed out the value and application of discipline in the business and social world and concluded by showing that discipline is a necessary part of any organization and also that it is an indispensable part of a person who wishes to become a success in any line of endeavor. His subject was made more interesting by the illustrations which he drew from personal experiences.

The large attendance at the meeting shows that the proper solution to the once apparent lack of interest in the Y was found in the discussion at the Y meeting of March 2nd. The conclusion at that time was that interest in the Y. M. C. A. would be stimulated if attractive and well advertised programs were presented and plans were laid for a Y rally. The proof that it was the correct solution is seen in the doubling of attendance at the last meeting of the Y. The next meeting of the Y is a joint meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W. and the program of the following Y. M. meeting promises to attract another large attendance.

The Tower Window

LAST week we had the opportunity of hearing addresses by a number of speakers who got their training in part at Ursinus. One of these was heard by the students and faculty at a morning chapel service. The others were addresses at Lenten services which were broadcast from Philadelphia. The chapel sermon was a model of homiletical achievement. The speaker announced his theme in a brief introduction, took up in logical order the points yielded by a simple analysis of the theme, and closed with a concluding paragraph that proved to be a most impressive climax to the message. His manner was passionate, yielding a somewhat expostulatory style, yet the quality of his English was excellent, and if put in print would hardly give the impression of the more or less impulsive manner in which the sentences were shot forth. It would make smooth reading.

The Ursinus men who were heard by radio had each their own characteristics, but likewise performed their tasks in masterly fashion. The oral elements in radio speaking are of primary importance. The appearance of the speaker, his personal make-up and posture before the microphone are of little consequence. The quality of voice, inflection in speaking, diction and style are everything—that is, up to the point where we come to consider what the speaker has to say. Of supreme importance is the thought. The listener soon shifts to something else unless the radio speaker has ideas that are really worth listening to.

What impressed me in all these addresses was the clear, vigorous thinking involved and the use of the simple sentence and direct discourse in speaking.

I speak of these addresses here where I mainly talk with Ursinus people, because on hearing them I was filled with justifiable pride in our College, and assured anew that our claim of superior training at Ursinus is no vain contention.

The speakers themselves would be modest enough in claiming any particular merit, but I am sure each one would credit whatever success others may attribute to him in large degree to the training got in college. And this fact will give encouragement to the students now here. It emphasizes the value of present work for future success.

The real test of an educated person is his ability to think, and the usefulness of a thinker lies in his ability to express his thought. Success in these two measures the value of an education. The activities within the curriculum develop thought power, those without—especially the activities connected with the literary societies, the publications and the debating clubs, develop the power of expression. The wise student will get all the benefit he can from both.

INTERCOLLEGIATE COMMENT

An intercollegiate debate between the University of Hawaii and Oxford is to take place in Honolulu. The Oxford debating team has been debating in leading American colleges and will visit Hawaii before proceeding to Australia, where they will engage the island continent's best debaters.

At West Virginia University all freshman girls were given a written examination on student government rules recently. Miss Martha T. Tilton, dean of women, stated that the examination was given to make sure that the new girls were acquainted with the rules of the institution. The Women's Student Government Association had charge of the test. The girls took the examination with the understanding that all papers would be carefully graded and all girls who failed to pass would be "campused."

Rev. Edwin C. Hibschan, D. D., '86, died at his home, 136 Rochelle Avenue, Philadelphia, on Wednesday, March 18, after an illness of two months. He would have been sixty years old next month. Funeral services were held at his late home on Saturday. Dr. Hibschan was the son of Rev. H. H. W. Hibschan, D. D. for many years a director and an ardent supporter of Ursinus College. He was born at Shamokin, Pa., and was graduated from Ursinus College in 1886. In 1888 he was ordained to the ministry and became the assistant to Dr. Good at the Heidelberg Reformed Church, Philadelphia, Pa. After leaving Heidelberg Church he was pastor at Trappe, at Stroudsburg and at Bethany Tabernacle in Philadelphia and later served as pastor of a large Presbyterian Church in St. Louis. Some years ago he was called to the pastorate of the Wissahickon Presbyterian Church which he served until the close of his life. Dr. Hibschan was an able preacher, an active and earnest pastor, and a congenial personage in his large circle of friends.

MISS HAMM LEADS

Y. W. C. A. MEETING

The subject of the Y. W. meeting on Wednesday night was the race problem. Miss Hamm, the leader, read the Scriptures, offered the prayer and led the discussion. With a few introductory remarks the question was thrown open for general discussion. The subject was one of universal interest and discussion never waned. The influence of the negro upon American morals, the ethical rightness of our antagonism to him, and some possible means of coping with the situation were all considered. Movements for the education of the colored race and their social improvement figured in the discussion. Sectional prejudice, the difference between North and South, were explained by different girls. The black race was not the only one discussed, for the influence of and prejudice against Orientals was also touched upon. No definite conclusions can be drawn upon a subject such as this but there were some points of general agreement. The negro should be given educational advantages that would raise him above his present social status but real equality between the two races is an impossibility.

of the negative. Two lawyers and a clergyman from Lebanon served as judges.

Heiges opened the debate on the question, Resolved, that Congress should be given the power, by a two-thirds vote to declare effective a federal law that has been declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court. He pointed out the fact that the Court usurped the power to declare laws unconstitutional and that it is oligarchical rather than democratic in character. Herber showed two additional defects in the present system of judicial veto in the fact that the present system is not in harmony with a theory of checks and balances and also because frequently cases are decided because they conflict with the views of the justices rather than with the constitution. Griffin showed that by giving Congress the power to declare a law effective these inherent evils would be eliminated.

The Albright debaters were Henninger, Gramley and Hewett with Price as alternate. They showed that the present system has been satisfactory, that the proposed plan would disrupt the constitution and that Congress is not qualified to take on this extra power.

This was the last intercollegiate debate for the three Ursinus debaters since this was the last debate of the year and all three will be lost by graduation.

This was a triangular debate. Bucknell was defeated at Ursinus. The triangle will be completed on March 26 when Albright Affirmative meets Bucknell Negative at Lewistown.

"It's Jim . . . Telephoning from College!"

Jim hasn't a motor-car. Jim hasn't a Phi Beta Kappa key. He isn't what you would call a Social Lion. Neither is he a star athlete.

Yet, if you were to ask the first man you met on the Campus . . . who is the best-liked man at college . . . he would, in all probability, mention Jim's name!

Because Jim has a reputation for being a good-fellow . . . one of those jolly, hearty, kind-hearted chaps who figure that the other fellow's feelings come first.

That this reputation is well founded, is proved by the fact that every week of his College Life (and he is a Senior now) he telephoned his Mother and his Dad. A worthy habit . . . a mighty worthy habit.

If you only knew how much your Mother and Dad would enjoy a weekly telephone chat with you, if you only knew how much you would enjoy these little chats yourself . . . you would certainly emulate the example of the well-liked Jim!

This little folder has been distributed on the campus. It tells you how low the rates really are.

If your home town is not included in the list, see the front pages of the telephone directory.

The Long Distance Operator will give you rates not shown there
